REFERENCE Color Swatches

Matte charmeuse is a soft, lightweight fabric commonly used in dressmaking, known for its fluid drape and smooth texture. Unlike traditional charmeuse, which has a glossy, satin-like shine, matte charmeuse features a more understated, low-luster finish that gives dresses a refined and modern look.

This fabric glides over the body, making it ideal for draped silhouettes, bias-cut gowns, and fitted styles. It provides the same luxurious feel as classic charmeuse, but without the high shine—making it a popular choice for bridesmaid dresses, evening gowns, formalwear, and destination wedding dresses.

Jersey is a soft, stretchy knit fabric that offers both comfort and ease of movement, making it ideal for dresses that need flexibility and a flattering fit. It gently hugs the body without feeling tight, drapes smoothly, and resists wrinkles. Jersey is often used for casual dresses, destination wedding styles, and modern silhouettes that prioritize comfort without sacrificing style.
